

Join the UNESCO Global Network of Learning Cities!

The UNESCO Global Network of Learning Cities (GNLC) is an international policy-oriented network providing inspiration, know-how and best practice. UNESCO GNLC members benefit from:

- sharing of lifelong learning policies and practices
- production and exchange of knowledge on key challenges and solutions
- capacity-building and training initiatives
- participating in global events such as the International Conference on Learning Cities.

The 200+ members of the network work in clusters on key issues such as education for sustainable development, equity and inclusion or health and well-being.

During the COVID-19 pandemic UNESCO learning cities have closely worked together to share good practice, strategies and activities to ensure that learning did not stop for young and old.

Becoming a learning city

A learning city:

effectively mobilizes resources in every sector to promote inclusive learning, from basic to higher education

revitalizes learning in families and communities facilitates learning for and in the workplace extends the use of modern learning technologies enhances quality and excellence in learning

fosters a culture of learning throughout life

... in the spirit of the values and objectives guiding UNESCO in pursuit of dialogue and international cooperation.

The member cities of the UNESCO network enhance individual empowerment and social inclusion, economic development and cultural action as well as sustainable development. They promote literacy and education for global citizenship, entrepreneurship, health and well-being.
